Inside a Small and Medium Practice: A Practitioner's Day in Focus

Johannesburg / 20 September 2024

 Date: 9 October 2024  Time: 13:00 – 15:30
Microsoft Teams Event (Free admission)

Event Objective

The Independent Regulatory Board for Auditors (IRBA) announces the next instalment in its series of popular and well-attended webinars.

Small and medium-sized practices (SMPs) constitute a significant portion of firms registered with the IRBA.

These firms help thousands of clients with essential audit services that serve important public interest needs. They perform the audits of non-profits, body corporates, legal practitioners' trust accounts, audits of small and medium and some large privately owned businesses, as well as provide an important training ground for their staff and future Registered Auditors (auditors). The firms must achieve all of this while maintaining the highest standards of audit quality. These firms and the work that these practitioners and their staff deliver, play a big part in maintaining the confidence of the public in the work of auditors.

Do these practitioners and their staff have unique needs? What can be done to support such practitioners and their firms to thrive?

Join us for a webinar with industry specialists that will cover these topics:

1. Managing Today, Planning for Tomorrow: Managing Clients and Work-Life While Planning for Business Growth and Succession.
2. Key IRBA Inspection Observations: Audit Quality at SMPs.
3. Building Your Team: Recruitment and Retention.
4. Scaling Success: Crafting a Cutting-Edge Technical Team.
5. Stress: Aid or Hinderance.

Who Should Attend?

2. Registered candidate auditors
